(b) State-wise indices of net output of agriculture and manufacturing (based on their contribution to NSDP) with 1970-71 as the base, are presented in Statements 2 and 3 respectively [See^ Appendix CLl, Annexure No. 100]. The same are "not tvailable for 1988.

(c) Regional disparity in per capita net State Domestic Product (NSDP) has tended to persist over the years, in spite of the fact that there has been a growth in flie real per capita NSDP even in case of the poorest of the poor States.

The Central Government have taken several steps to improve the position of *uch States. The important measures mong these are given below:—

(i) Transfer of resources from the Central Government to the State Governments for meeting their plan expenditure according to a formula which is weighed in favour of the backward States whose per capita income is below the national average,

(ii) Devolution of non-plan resources which favours the backward States ani seeks to reduce disparity between tha States in addition to covering the revenue gap.

(in) Providing Special Central Assistance for the development of backward areas in the States such as, hill areas, desert areas, drought prone areas and also areas having concentration of tribal population.

I (iv) Providing special incentives ia the form of investment subsi-' dy and concessional finance for accelera. ting the industrial development of the industrially backward regions in the States; and

(v) While making state-wise allocation of resources under poverty alleviation programmes more emphasis is being given to the incidence of poverty during the 7th Plan as compared to that in 6th Plan.
